Prisoner Custody

- ▶ Individuals arrested for federal offenses are brought before a U.S. magistrate or U.S. district court judge for their initial court appearances. The court determines whether prisoners are to be released on bond or remanded to the custody of the Marshals to await trial. Generally, 91.2 percent of those arrested by federal agencies are detained at some point in the judicial process.
- ▶ The Marshals received approximately 101,405 individuals in fiscal year 2024, or about 277 people a day, and escorted more than 678,088 prisoners, or 1,853 prisoners per day, to court appearances or for other matters in the 94 federal judicial districts in more than 300 court cities.
- ▶ Upon conviction, the Marshals generally deliver prisoners to their designated Federal Bureau of Prisons institutions to serve their sentences. Prisoners who receive short-term sentences of 90 days or less may serve their sentences in U.S. Marshals custody.
- ▶ The detention of federal prisoners presents diverse and complex challenges, including:
  - Locating detention space near federal courthouses to facilitate court proceedings and attorney access
  - Coordinating with federal, state, and local authorities regarding the execution of writs, court orders and the transfer of prisoners

- Separating multiple co-defendant prisoners from each other to ensure their safety and security and the effective operation of the judicial system
- Managing prisoners with contagious diseases and chronic illnesses

Prisoner Housing

- ▶ The U.S. Marshals Service does not own or operate detention facilities but partners with state and local governments using intergovernmental agreements to house prisoners. Additionally, the agency houses prisoners in Federal Bureau of Prisons facilities and private detention facilities.
- ▶ As both defense attorneys and prosecutors require routine access to prisoners, the Marshals attempt to house prisoners in close proximity to the judicial district in which they are prosecuted.
- ▶ The Marshals annually review state, local and private detention facilities that house federal prisoners to ensure the safe, secure, and humane care and custody of those prisoners.

Prisoner Medical Care

- ▶ The U.S. Marshals Service is responsible for ensuring medically necessary health care is provided to prisoners in its custody.
- ▶ In Fiscal Year 2024, the Marshals expended $178.5 million for prisoner medical services.
- ▶ The agency is limited to paying Medicare rates for medical services provided to federal prisoners, per 18 U.S. Code § 4006.

Media Requests for Prisoner Information, Interviews and Booking Photos

- ▶ The U.S. Marshals Service does not disclose any personal information, location held, court scheduling, transportation details or other prisoner information, other than to verify a prisoner is in U.S. Marshals custody.
- ▶ Prisoner interview requests may be granted when there is no objection from the U.S. attorney or prosecutor of record, the presiding trial judge, the prisoner, the defense attorney, and the management of the detention facility where the prisoner is located. It is the responsibility of media representatives to obtain the aforementioned documentation in writing and provide it to the U.S. Marshal, Chief Deputy U.S. Marshal, or the Office of Public Affairs. Upon receipt of the required documentation, the U.S. Marshals will consider the request. Any prisoner interview requests of terrorism-related defendants must be approved, in advance, by the Federal Bureau of Prisons and DOJ National Security Division.
- ▶ The U.S. Marshals generally does not release prisoner mug shots (booking photos) for privacy reasons. (For the policy, see <https://www.usmarshals.gov/freedom-of-information-act.>)
